Baekjesashin-gil(road)

It is no coincidence that Incheon has now become the international maritime city of North-East Asia. This is because of the accumulated efforts of our ancestors over the past 1,600 years, trading with China across the sea, and the cultural heritage of Neungheodae. Baekjesashin-gil sheds light on the history of Yeonsu-gu and proves its values to the people.

1 Samhoheon

Samhoheon is also called Samojigogae or Samhaheyon. This place was the main traffic route to take the ferry to go to China. It's called Samhoheon because envoys for China and their family members said goodbye three times there.

3 Yeonsu-gu Cheonghak-dong Hill Path 4 A-7

2 Samhoheon Forest of Traditions

It is planned to cultivate a fortress of historical legacy so that the people may appreciate the historical legacy of the Envoy to Baekje. The artificial waterfall in the forest which is constructed utilizing a natural rock base and a resting spot will be provided within the forest, which will serve the tourists who travel along Baekjesashin-gil (the trail of the envoy to Baekje) as a resting place. (possibly within the second half of 2018)

3 Entrance to Samhoheon Oreum-gil 4 A-7

3 Memorial Stone for Wise Ruling of Hwangooncho

At the entrance of Cheonghaksa, there is a memorial stone carved into natural rock that commemorates wise governance. This is a memorial stone commemorating the wise governance of Gangdosamjeol Hwangooncho who governed Incheon two times during the 21st and 23rd year of King Jeongjo during the Joseon Dynasty. He was also famous as a calligrapher and his 2nd memorial stone stands in front of Incheon Hyanggyo.

5 Well site of Baekje

A well served as a place of gathering and communication in a village and became the centerpiece of the lives of the community members. According to the records, there were two wells within the fortress on Mt. Munhak. Therefore, it is believed that this well was used by the common people who lived inside of the fortress. However, some believe that the name, 'Baekje Well,' actually came from Baekje Well, which means a one-hundred cubit well.
